

Winload.EFI Error, pretty much self-explanatory by its name, is an error that prevents .ebp from download. This error can occur when an EFI disk has been compromised and the EFI system has been disabled. Windows 7 won't boot an EFI disk even if you use EFI-bootmgr . In any case, booting an EFI disk is not a problem on a Windows 7 system, but of course it is very problematic when you use EFI-bootmgr on a USB key. Solving the problem of booting EFI on a bootable USB key If you are using EFI-bootmgr , you need to use Winload.exe to start the EFI system .
